Generating conference
 Community themes

Conference themes:

- addressing global issues locally through collaborations between artists, communities and local government,
- the links between creative communities and civic engagement – the ways creative processes can mobilize communities for positive social change,
- cultural citizenship and cultural rights, as an aspect of a broader human rights agenda.

Re
Generating Community will be of particular interest to:

- academics in arts, cultural studies and social policy,
- councillors and local government workers from arts and culture, community services, economic development, community, social, urban and environmental planning,
- public policy developers and community leaders,
- artists and arts workers engaged with communities.

Re Generating conference Community keynote speakers

International keynote speakers

ANMOL VELLANI is a theatre director, philosopher and Executive Director of the Indian Foundation for the Arts (IFA) which supports more than 100 projects in 17 states of India. India has a long tradition of embedded community art. Vellani is well placed to talk about community-based art development, given IFA's startling array of experiences.

BOB McNULTY is the Founder and President of Partners for Livable Communities, USA, a thirty year old organization dedicated to promoting quality of life, economic development and social equity. His diverse career includes being Assistant Director of the National Museum of American History, Director of Environmental Programs of the General Services Administration, and the Assistant Director of the Architecture and Environmental Arts program of the National Endowment for the Arts, USA.

Invited speakers

ROBYN ARCHER is a renowned singer, writer and Artistic Director who has performed throughout Australia and the world. She has been chair of the Australia Council's Community Cultural Development Board, and was a participant in the Prime Minister's 2020 summit in Canberra. Robyn is also an adviser to RMIT's Globalism Research Centre.

PAUL CARTER is an interdisciplinary scholar with an international reputation as a pioneer of 'spatial history' and place-making. He also has a unique record of achievement as an artist working in the public sphere through large public space design/public art commissions.

CHRIS GIBSON is Associate Professor in Human Geography at the University of Wollongong. He has published widely on the creative industries, urban development and popular culture.

MARIA KATSONIS is Head of Public Policy, State Services Authority, Victoria, leading service delivery and organisation reviews for the Premier, Ministers and Secretaries. She was a general manager, producer and management consultant in the arts before joining Arts Victoria where she was responsible for arts policy and industry development.

MARTIN MULLIGAN, is Deputy Director and Senior Research Fellow, Globalism Research Centre, RMIT, Melbourne. He recently led the research team for the 'Generations' project, in which he investigated outcomes of the community based arts projects in five local government areas around Australia.
